AuthorHouse. Paperback. Book Condition: New. Paperback. 28 pages. Dimensions: 11.0in. x 8.5in. x 0.1in. A mother, Mary, who didn't want her son, Joseph, to know he had a father, did everything she could to prevent anyone from talking about his father. She didn't even talk to Joseph about his father herself. But when the little boy started his preschool year, he soon found out that he must have a father because some of the other children had fathers who would bring them to the classroom and would pick them up in the afternoon. After a few weeks of observation, while Joseph and his mother were walking to school, Joseph decided to ask his mother about his father. 'Mommy, where's Daddy?' he asked. Mary responded, 'You don't have a daddy. Why do the other kids have daddies?' asked Joseph with an alarmed voice. 'I don't know,' replied Mary. This answer hit Joseph so deeply that his behavior changed from good to bad to worse. His behavior changed positively when his mother had another baby, a boy named Sam, and the baby's father, Julian, became Joseph's surrogate daddy. For many years things were going well for Joseph and his family—when on a winter Saturday...
